Confederation

The confederation makes it possible to transform different castes into a united nation. The confederation's head is used to unite the different castes proposing one or more opportunities for consensus towards the castes.

But consensus makes it possible to grow. Everyone loses and everyone wins. So the confederation is getting stronger with diversity. If all countries are organized into confederations or nation-states, we have an ideal world united to go into space.

My Notes

Write with political books from the Tamery Sematawy Maat bookstore.
